Visit of William L. Wilson to Dr. William S. Christian, of Middlesex.

BACKWARD AND UNPROMISING

The Condition of the Corn and Truck ops in the Northern Neck-A Cry Against the Criminal Expenses.

COMORN, KING GEORGE COUNTY, VA., June 15.—(Special.)—Steamer Westland, which passed this county last Monday evening en route from Fredericksburg to Baltimore, had among her ngers Hon. William L. Wilson, father of the famous tariff bill, who was journey ing to Urbanna, Middlesex county, to visit and consult Dr. William S. Christian, of that county, in regard to his It will be remembered that ddring Mr. Wilson's long critical illness in Mexico some months ago, a telegram was sent to Dr. Christian, asking if he would go to Mexico at short notice to treat the distinguished sick statesman if the disease continued in unyielding severity. Dr. Christian telegraphed back to Mr. Wilson's son, promising to go, if ne cessary, but in the mean time Mr. Wilson egan to improve. This high compliment to the great Middlesex physician grew out of the fact that for a long series of years his phenomenal success in the treatment of typhoid-fever and kindred diseases has made him famous throughout the country, and this well-merited fame calls Dr. Christian to many sections remote from his hom

NEW YORK, June 15.—When the novelist, Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton, was minister from Great Britain to this country he sought out and visited the family of Ancrum, in Charleston, S. C.

Lord Lytton knew of the Ancrums as descendants of an ancient and noble solution. Scotch family of that name; also, their picturesque old castie, near Edinburg. This American Ancrum's wife was a lineal descendant of one of the princes of Conde.

Scotch courage and French vivacity winited to make the American household a most charming one, and the beautiful granddaughter of the family became a great favorite with the titled Englishman. The church in ten years grew to such HISTORY OF THE CHURCH.

Rev. H. C. Cheatham, one of the old pastors, will conduct the services.

The building is one of the largest, handsomest, and most comfortable church edifices in the city, and the short time that has been consumed in its erection speaks volumes for the zeal of the pastor, Rev. The architecture is Gothic. The pointed arch preciominates within, as well as on the exterior, and there is a richness of contrast and blending of detail that give a peculiarly classic effect. On the corner of the building is a square tower 150 feet in height, and two small towers of similar style, one on Twenty-fourth, the other on N street, destroy anything like monotony of effect. The material is pressed brick, handsomely trimmed with roughtinish brownstone.
